

GAME WAS EXCITING

Goddard-Spaulling Contest Was Won by the Former

IN A HARD-FOUGHT BATTLE

Spaulding Made Goddard Travel Limit to Win—Score, 21 to 13

Spaulding made the Goddard eleven travel to the limit at the seminary campus Saturday afternoon before the hill-toppers got a 21 to 13 decision over the doughty high school lads. It was the second game of the season between the two schools, Goddard having taken the initial match by a score of 21 to 0 three weeks before. By all odds it was the smartest intercollegiate football match that has been staged in Barre in several years. Hundreds of football fans who ascended Goddard heights saw a pluck bunch of schoolboys from the city force the game to the last ditch before acknowledging defeat in front of a team whose supporters have vaunted its superiority to anything in the preparatory class that wears gridiron togs in Vermont to-day.

Sheer beef, it may be said, put the ball over Spaulding's goal line three times. Flashes of brilliancy there were in the seminary's offensive and not infrequently there were individual performances that were not lacking in merit; but the clever football, in period and out, was uncovered by the Spaulding players, who were outwitted to a man, undoubtedly 12 pounds.

To say that the high school is a better scoring machine, once the disparity in weight has been discounted, a more compact offensive organization, and a team with a far more marked propensity for following the ball, does not conceal any attempt to disparage Goddard's victory. It was a clean-cut win over an eleven that fought against fearful odds. Connor scored the first touchdown for Goddard after five minutes had elapsed.

SUBSTITUTION.

The imitator is like the counterfeit. He enters the field of business with a cheaper, lower grade article, of inferior quality, made as a substitute for the genuine, and generally, as usual, that it is "just as good." The dealer is persuaded to handle it on glowing promises of enormous profit—much larger than the regular legitimate profit which is made on the genuine article. The imitator succeeds in placing upon man's natural aversion, places his goods on sale with the dealer, and instructs him to take advantage of the public by substituting the false article for the genuine at every opportunity. You can be pretty sure that whenever you ask for a well-known product and the dealer tells you he has something else that's just as good, or even better, the dealer is going to make a greater profit on that article than the one you call for, and in nine cases out of ten you will get a much inferior article. Some buyers are easily imposed upon and this encourages the "get-rich-quick" type of article. This also encourages the legitimate manufacturer to produce articles of merchandise that represent honest value to the consumer. Where a man has devoted years of his life in perfecting an article that he knows cannot be excelled in quality, he has spent thousands of dollars in advertising his goods; and where these goods have been giving universal satisfaction for a long time, great injury results by permitting substitution to rob him of his market and at the same time rob the consumer by selling him a doubtful article at practically the same price. There is no law through which such evil practices can be stopped. The sole remedy is for the legitimate manufacturer to ask the public direct not to patronize dealers who try to substitute a different brand of goods for the kind wanted. All first class dealers know that it is better business to try to substitute something else for the article wanted.

There is a Certain-teed dealer in your locality who will be glad to give you further information about our goods and will quote you reasonable prices. If the goods are made by us, remember—we stand behind them.

In the opening period, Witt went over for No. 2 in the second and the last touchdown came in the third on a beautiful forward pass from Laird to Witt. Tomasi went over the line in the second on a clever pass from Sector. He scored a second touchdown for Spaulding in the fourth when he circled Goddard's left end in a fine whirl of interference.

The high school has a coterie of backs who are measurably faster on their feet than the towering Goddard backfield. Great holes were not torn in the seminary line, but there were slippery little warriors who were forever worming their way through the defensive, ducking hither and yon and frequently with mystifying results, mystifying to Goddard's linemen. The seminary exhibited a better developed faculty for running back kicks, but the men were woefully slow in following the ball. Time and time again there were fumbles when the first streak of daylight to filter through the melee to the man on the ball would find a Spaulding player clutching the leather. Goddard had a more sweeping attack and her interference was manifestly better in tight pinches. Witt, Laird and Connor worked desperately in their plays and were rewarded for their aggressiveness, too. Laird was next to the hardest man on the field to tackle and his splendid run that wound up with Connor's touchdown in the first period should have ended in a touchdown itself. By strictly legitimate means he beat off the Spaulding tacklers and should have been credited with a score. But the referee ruled, wrong many believe, that the quarterback had stepped over the sidelines in making his long spurt. Forward passes were responsible for a touchdown for each side, Goddard's pass being the more spectacular.

Tomasi kicked to Witt in the first period and Goddard fumbled to Cole on the seminary's 40-yard line. Spaulding brought the ball to within 15 yards of the goal before losing on downs. After unimportant gains through the line, Goddard loaned the ball to Laird, whose classy sprinting meant a touchdown. On the referee's ruling it was brought back to high school's nine-yard line, but Connor carried it back in two rushes. Witt kicking the goal. Laird kicked to Cowie, who ran the ball back well, but the period was without incident and Spaulding had handed the ball to Goddard on the former's 14-yard line when the whistle sounded.

Spaulding held on her eight-yard line at the opening of the second and Tomasi punted to Witt, who ran back from the middle for a touchdown through the poor work of Spaulding's end and an excellent interference. Witt kicked the goal and for a few moments it looked as though Goddard were to score almost at will during the remainder of the game. Laird kicked off to Gordon, who made a spirited run and in the next three minutes Cowie, Tomasi and Sector marched the ball down to Goddard's 10-yard line, where Sector shot home a pass to Tomasi for Spaulding's first encounter. High school took a sudden jump and went higher when Sector kicked the goal. On Tomasi's kick-off to McIntosh, Goddard essayed two passes, but failed, and the half was over with the ball in Spaulding territory.

Goddard's touchdown in the third period was one of the short stories of the game. Laird kicked to Tomasi, but Spaulding could not work her passes and the climax to a bad two minutes came when Tomasi started to punt but fumbled a bad pass. It was Goddard's ball and it was perilously near Spaulding's goal line when Witt made a dashing end run and played the pigskin back of the posts, even though the seminary's end held the ball for an instant shortly before to Levin, who made a nice recovery of Quinn's fumble. Laird kicked off to Cowie, who ran the ball back to the middle of the field. Cowie made two strides through tackle, but the whistle cut short the play after a mis-carried pass had been made.

Spaulding made a spunky effort to tie up the score in the last quarter and for a time seemed to rush its opponents with ease, but Goddard took an 11th-hour brace after Tomasi had circled her left end for a touchdown. At the opening Tomasi punted to Witt, who was drowned quite scientifically by Cowie. Laird's attempted pass to Witt worked poorly and the quarterback fumbled on the next turn and the ball shifted to the high school on Goddard's 35-yard line. Goddard held for downs, but Laird fumbled again, Cowie recovering. Cowie, Tomasi and Gordon figured in some skillful plunges at this point, but it was Tomasi who swung around the end for 25 yards to a touchdown. Sector failed to kick a goal and the score was left at 21 to 13. Sector kicked off to Quinn, but the game was over before Goddard had begun to think of another touchdown.
